Questionnaire for Children aged 5-6 years (As indicated by child)

Hello, my name is [name]. Today I am visiting you in the kindergarten, because I would like to know whether you like the kindergarten, what you are doing here, with whom you are playing and with whom you are friends. I want to know that because I am working in a huge project with people from different countries, namely [country] and [country] (→ show both countries on a map) – maybe you have already heard of them. In those countries, there are also people like me asking kids in the kindergarten what they are doing, experiencing, and playing. We would like to know whether the kids in those countries do like the same things and play the same games as you do. You can say anything what comes in your mind when responding to my questions, there is no right or wrong. Just tell me what you are thinking when responding.

Before we start, I show you something ... look, we have some cards with different smileys. This one here is smiling brightly, this one looks rather sad, and the last, one does not know that well. I will ask you some questions and these smileys shall help you answering my question. For instance, here, I have a picture of ice cream and I ask you whether you like ice cream or how often do you like ice cream. The first smiley, the smiling one, means that you like ice cream and that you would like to eat ice cream all the time. The second, the sad one, would mean that you don't like ice cream that much and would eat ice cream only on rare occasions. And the last one, would mean that there are days on which you like ice cream, and that are days when you don't like to eat ice. And how is it, do you like ice cream? ... and how about spinach? And tidying up? Super, you are doing great! Very good.

Do you have any questions? ... No?, well, then let's start. One important note, you are allowed to end responding my questions when you don't like to answer ... That's no problem. Do you have any question? Good, then let's start!
